

i4s Summer School 2021

Terms and Conditions

In 2021 the Iberian Space Science Summer School (i4S) will be held on-line using Zoom (<https://zoom.us/download> ) and Slack (<https://slack.com> ) web services. All participants (lecturers, mentors and students) have to download and install the apps in advance.

The i4s summer school activities will consist of two parts: Lectures and students' Projects. Lectures will be given in Zoom and the work on the students' projects will be organized using Slack and Google drive. Lectures are available for everyone through a Zoom link on the i4s School website.

Lectures in Zoom will be recorded and uploaded later to the i4s website for open access, however the Q&A session after the lectures will not be recorded.

To work on the Projects, the students of the i4s summer school will be assigned to Projects according to their preferences. Each Project should have from 3 (minimum) to 5 (maximum) students. Students will be assigned to the Projects on a first come, first served basis taking into account both their ranking of the projects according to their interest and their time zones.

The work on the projects will be organized in Slack with possibility to share files using Google Drive account of the i4s summer school. The students can work on their project during the time that is convenient for a whole team. The mentors of each project will be available in Slack during limited hours (provided in the final timetable) to discuss goals of the projects, to set up the work, to teach how to use data/software, to answer questions and provide other help and support to the students of a project.

During the last day of the i4s summer school students will present results of the work on the Projects (Zoom). This session will be recorded. The recordings and the presentations will be uploaded later to the i4s web site for open access.

After the i4s summer school is finished, all students will receive certificates that confirm their participation and, if this will be a case, distinguish their work.

The official language of the i4s summer school is English. Please use only English when communicating using open channels.

All i4s summer school participants shall treat everyone with dignity and respect, not using their position or personal belief/opinion to bully, abuse, victimise, harass or unlawfully discriminate against others when using both open and private channels of communication. The i4s LOC will not tolerate harassment based on any basis, including related to age, disability, gender, marital or civil partner status, race, colour, nationality, ethnic or national origin, religion or belief, social status, and background or actual or perceived intellect. Harassment is unacceptable even if it does not fall within any of these categories.
